This position is available on or after November 1, 2010.

Salary

The Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service is seeking to fill entry-level educator positions. Beginning annual salary for entry-level educators who have a master's degree is $35,500 and $32,500 with a bachelor's degree. Starting salary will be based on education and relevant prior experience.

Job Summary

This position provides leadership to nutrition education programs in the assigned geographic area. This position is funded by the Oklahoma Nutrition Education (ONE) Program grant (50%), a part of the federal Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP-Ed), and is funded (50%) by the Expanded Food & Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP).

The purpose of CNEP is to improve the nutritional status of limited income families/households through practical nutrition education. CNEP provides personalized and multiple learning sessions by ONE Program and EFNEP paraprofessionals.

Program leadership includes: (1) nutrition education; (2) program management; (3) human resource management; (4) fiscal management; and (5) public relations. Some critical components include: (1) responsibility for the quality and accuracy of nutrition education delivery by the paraprofessionals; (2) accountability for the success of the paraprofessionals and CNEP; and (3) ethical stewardship of financial and human resources.

Additional responsibilities include leading efforts to develop and promote unity with OCES Extension Educators and staff and initiating networking with other agencies and organizations in assigned counties.

ONE Program and EFNEP paraprofessionals will be located in Oklahoma, Grady and Cleveland Counties. Regular travel to these counties is required. Flexibility and adaptability in scheduling is required. The CNEP Area Coordinator will work under the direction of the District staff and the CNEP State Coordinator.

Continuation of this position is subject to the needs for the position, performance, and availability of funding.
